Dear Hiring Team at Donorbox,

I am writing to apply for the Senior Product Designer role. As someone who coaches jiu-jitsu and volunteers at my local running club, Donorbox's mission to help nonprofits and the inclusion of paid volunteer days stand out to me.

My background is in designing complex B2B SaaS platforms and using data to guide my decisions. Here are the facts from my past roles:

Led a UX workshop for 40+ participants from Vodafone, TalkTalk, and Zen to improve CityFibre's B2B portal. The testing captured over 1,400 data points, doubled user satisfaction scores, and drove a 25% increase in feature delivery despite a 66% engineering cut.

Designed interfaces and complex tables for Perforce's enterprise-level secure data system, simplifying dense workflows and contributing to increased B2B sales.

Test and integrate generative AI design tools (including Figma and Claude) into daily workflows as a member of my current company's AI specialist group.

I am based in the UK and fully comfortable working remotely in an independent capacity. I would appreciate the opportunity to interview with you and discuss how my enterprise design experience fits the Donorbox platform.

Best regards,

Ben Turner
